New Horizons Recognized as a Top IT Training Company
TrainingIndustry.com names New Horizons to Top 20 Companies in the IT Training Industry

Conshohocken, PA, October 23, 2009 - For the second consecutive year, New Horizons Computer Learning Centers was selected among this year's Top 20 Companies in the IT training industry by TrainingIndustry.com.

According to TrainingIndustry.com, criteria for the ranking include: commitment to the IT training industry, industry recognition and innovation, talent of corporate leadership and professional staff. In addition, the organization analyzes the revenue generated by the company or company size, potential growth in IT training services and the strength of its clients. Those considered for the ranking also had to have demonstrated leadership in shaping the IT training industry, as well as geographic reach.

"We are proud to receive the recognition as a Top IT Training Company by TrainingIndustry.com again. New Horizons strives to deliver the highest quality of training and comprehensive capabilities to our millions of clients around the world and we are proud to see that our efforts are being recognized," said Mark Miller, president and chief executive officer of New Horizons Computer Learning Centers.

As part of the organization's commitment to the industry and service to its members and Web site visitors, TrainingIndustry.com announces Top Company Lists to help organizations searching for the right training partner.

"TrainingIndustry.com's review committee worked to ensure a comprehensive view of the IT training sector to include companies that demonstrate outstanding capabilities in the design, delivery and management of training services," said Doug Harward, chief executive officer of Training Industry, Inc., in a press release issued by the organization. "Companies recognized are those that focus on providing great training programs and lead the market in their approach."

The ultimate goal of the "Top 20 Companies" list is to provide corporate, government, and training executives with a directory of highly qualified, successful and proven training partners.

New Horizons delivers a wide range of technical, application and business skills training, ranging from basic application and desktop productivity tools like Microsoft Office to complex and integrated business systems, such as Cisco, information security, ITIL and virtualization. "We offer several premium learning methodologies, so everyone can find the best option that works for their needs. Our mission has continued to be to empower people around the world to succeed through learning," Mark Miller said.
